

The 2011 fd4w Roadshow is bringing it's "5 steps to directing" seminar to London on April 2nd. This one day seminar will cover the fundamentals of film directing in 5 easy steps. Our content rich courses receive amazing testimonials and we promise to over-deliver! Suitable for film-makers, actors, writers, producers, designers , in fact any woman who loves movies!

London University Birkbeck College

Mal 532 Malet Street, WC1E 7HX

10am – 5pm

£50 discount price(Full price £85) Book at www.filmdirecting4women.com

Step 1 : Understanding the role of the director and the attributes you will need. What are the main relationships in development, pre-production, on set and in post?

Step 2*. Understand the language of cinema. How to tell a story with the camera. The meaning of shot sizes, camera angles, lenses, camera movements.*

Step 3*: How to break down the script to achieve your shot list.*

Step 4*: How to guide the actor's performance*

Step 5: Directing the scene. Putting it all together. A practical demonstration with a chance for you to participate in either directing, acting or as camera op.

With tips on getting a foot in the door of the industry and plenty of time for questions and networking this promises to be a day to remember!

BOOK NOW at www.filmdirecting4women.com