FUN AND ENGAGING

Training to be a Door Supervisor is a serious business. The requirements of applying for, and being granted an SIA license require potential security professionals to demonstrate a high level of skill and understanding.

Having the confidence to put what you have learned into practice is essential. All our courses are delivered by professional security officers who work in the security industry themselves and are able to deliver the courses in a way that not only makes learning easy, but also offers an insight into what it is really like to be a Door Supervisor based on real life scenarios.

MAYBO Safer PI Included

Security professionals have made Maybo physical intervention the most widely used approved training in the UK. By providing frontline staff with the skills for disengagement, escorting and holding Maybo skills are now used in thousands of shops, clubs, events, hospitals and care homes around the UK. The course covers safer skills to avoid assault, disengage and hold and escort/eject individuals. Since August 2010 new door supervisors have needed to complete a unit in escorting and disengagement to gain an SIA license.

In the future existing door supervisors will be required to top up their license to include physical intervention

GUARANTEED AND EFFECTIVE

We're so confident that if you choose our training you will get the necessary skills needed to operate in the security industry that if for any reason you aren't able to pass the course at the first opportunity you can choose to re-sit the required SIA exams at the next scheduled course. It doesn't happen often but sometimes things aren't always in your control, knowing you will be supported can make all the difference
