"Excellent structure, comprehensive coverage, practical case studies and very good lecturers"

S. Bakardjieva, Bulgarian Ministry of Environment and Water

"Excellent instrument to develop expertise and professional and academic knowledge on European Union law"

L. Bargiotti, The European Union

Dear Applicant,

The Centre of European Law at King's College London is pleased to announce details of its 2014-2015 Distance Learning Programme leading to a Postgraduate Diploma/Masters in European Union Law.

Now in its 15th successful year it has been attended by over 600 students drawn from the UK and other parts of the European Union, the European Economic Area, Central and Eastern Europe, the Far East and the USA. It provides tuition from one of Europe's leading centres in European law and is studied on a distance learning basis, thereby avoiding crucial time spent away from your place of work. The Programme will allow you to gain a competitive advantage in a difficult job market and increase your skills at this crucial time.

The programme aims to provide the professional with an in-depth and up-to-date knowledge of the most important theoretical and practical aspects of EU law by focusing on the Treaties of the European Union. Benefit from a highly relevant programme that:

- Deals with the free movement of goods and people (including citizenship), the freedom of establishment, the freedom to provide services, the free movement of capital and economic and monetary union;
- Covers also competition law, social policy, environmental policy and external relations;
- Concludes with a judicial review of EU law, including liability of EU institutions, and the enforcement of EU law with regard to the protection of individual's rights in national courts and with regard to the applicable procedures.

The programme is spread over 8 months starting on 1st October 2014 and ending with an examination at King's College London in May 2015. The units will be dispatched at fortnightly intervals and are updated annually to take any new law into account. These will take you systematically through the whole subject. Units will consist of text, suggestions for further reading, assignment questions and model answers: annexes will contain reference materials.

There will be two optional weekend seminars held in London at the end of November 2014 and in March 2015 which will provide an opportunity for revision of the programme, for discussion, for preparation for the examination and for you to meet your fellow students and programme tutors. The seminars will focus on (but will not be limited to) the solution to practical problems through case studies.

Successful postgraduate diploma students at Merit level can, if they wish, apply to enrol in a part-time distance learning Masters in European Union Law from King's College London. Candidates who have been awarded the Postgraduate Diploma in European Union Law at Merit level will obtain an MA if they achieve at least 50% in a 12,000 to 15,000 word research based dissertation. The dissertation will be due for submission by a specified date which will be no later than 12 months following commencement of the MA.

I hope we can look forward to your joining the 2014-2015 programme and to receiving your application soon.

Yours sincerely,

Professor Alexander Türk
Programme Director

Who will benefit from studying this programme?:

The programme is studied by a wide variety of international professionals, including private practice lawyers, in-house counsel, representatives from the European Commission, the European Parliament and other regional and national regulatory bodies.

Questions you may have about this programme

How can studying by distance learning benefit your career?

Increasingly we all face more pressure in our business lives. Finding the time to attend courses of any kind can be very difficult and well meant plans are often put aside indefinitely. Distance learning is the solution to your education needs. You can enjoy the full benefits of studying, whilst still in employment, using this freedom and flexibility to your advantage. You can set the pace at which you learn and you can decide where, when and how long you want to study. One of the most beneficial factors of distance learning study is that as the programme progresses, you can apply the knowledge, skills and expertise gained to your work immediately.

How is the programme structured?

The distance learning Postgraduate Diploma in European Union Law consists of three modules containing twelve units. It will commence on 1st October 2014 and will extend over eight months leading to an examination in May 2015. The first unit will be sent out on 1st October 2014 and subsequent units will then be issued every two weeks until April 2015 with a four-week break over Christmas. Questions will be set at the end of each unit and model answers to these will be sent with the unit that follows. In addition three compulsory assignments will be set during the programme which will count towards the final mark.

What format do the units take?

The units come in the form of hard copy print and as PDF documents via the programme website. Each unit is designed to be largely self-contained but recommended and further reading will be suggested. For each unit students will receive: a package of materials comprising text, copies of relevant regulations, Commission decisions and notices, judgments of the General Court and European Court of Justice, practical examples, questions and model answers to test your knowledge as you progress.

How long will I spend studying each unit?

The length of time needed to study a unit will vary with your experience and the complexity of the unit being studied. It is anticipated that each unit will require a student to spend approximately twenty hours studying, depending on the student's experience, plus further study time for questions and reading and completion of the assignments. This programme is designed and delivered in a format that requires the student to study independently. Although academic staff will be available via the programme website for student queries, they do not normally tutor on a one-to-one basis. Students who enter this programme need to be aware of the commitment required to study this challenging and rewarding programme.

How will I receive the materials?

Materials will be sent by post (airmail overseas). However, if students are worried about the postal service in the country where they are based, then materials can be sent by air courier. There would be an additional one-off nominal charge for this of £250. The materials packages are quite bulky and it is important to provide a mailing address where your materials can be safely delivered (please note that this cannot be a PO Box address). The programme units will also be available as PDF documents on the programme website.

Are there any tutorial seminars?

All students will be eligible to attend two optional weekend seminars. The first will be held on 22nd and 23rd November 2014 and the second at the end of the programme on 28th and 29th March 2015. The weekend seminars will be held in London. The seminars are not compulsory but are very beneficial and provide an excellent opportunity to meet fellow students, the programme director and programme authors. The weekend seminars will be videoed in full and will be accessible to students via the programme website after the event, allowing students access to the tutors' guidance.

Compulsory assignments

Three compulsory assignments (2000 words each) will be set during the programme and will contribute 30% towards the final overall mark for the Postgraduate Diploma.

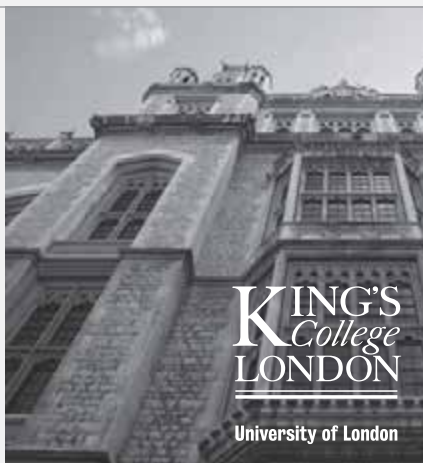

Where and when is the examination?

The examination will take place in May 2015 at King's College London (date to be confirmed). It will be a three hour written examination contributing 70% to the final mark. The written examination will consist of three parts (one per module). The examination is handwritten limited open book - you are allowed to take an unannotated (i.e. no writing of any sort is permitted) copy of Blackstone's EU Treaties and Legislation (ed Foster) into the examination.

Masters Programme

A successful student can, if they wish, apply to enrol in the Masters Degree in European Union Law provided they have successfully completed the Postgraduate Diploma part of the programme at Merit level. Candidates who have been awarded the Postgraduate Diploma in European Union Law in the years 2012, 2013 or 2014 may apply to study for the Masters degree. Students will obtain an MA if they achieve at least 50% in a 12,000 to 15,000 word dissertation. The dissertation will be due for submission by a specified date which will be no later than 12 months following commencement of the MA. The MA Programme is also delivered as a part-time distance learning programme.

Application Checklist

NB: Make sure you have included hard copies of the following items with your application form and please also scan and send them to richard.morgan@informa.com. YOUR APPLICATION WILL NOT BE PROCESSED UNLESS THE FOLLOWING ARE INCLUDED:

- ✓ An authenticated good copy of your Degree or Degree Transcript or your Practising Certificate. Copies must be signed and dated by someone senior to yourself to show that it is a true copy of the original document. HARD COPY ESSENTIAL.
- ✓ A written reference on company/university letterhead from a senior partner, department director, head of chambers or from an academic institution or equivalent, who will vouch for your ability, interest and academic suitability to study a programme of this nature.
- ✓ A personal statement stating why you wish to follow this programme and how it relates to your previous experience.
- ✓ A copy of your passport (or driving licence with a photo) showing your name and photograph.
- ✓ Two passport sized recent photos of yourself with your name written on the reverse. Preferably, these can be sent as jpeg files to richard.morgan@informa.com. Please ensure that the jpeg is of the quality and size of a passport photo i.e. a headshot with a plain background. Please keep this file safe as you will also be asked to upload your jpeg when you enrol online at King's College London.
- ✓ If applicable, a copy of any English proficiency test forms that you have undertaken in the last three years giving your score. In the absence of the required language certificate, it may be possible - in exceptional cases - to accept a language reference from your referee or employer. However, your referee must be a native English speaker and your work must clearly be in an international environment where English is used as a business language on a daily basis. The College is under no obligation to accept references instead of the required English Language certificate.

How do I enrol?

Students interested in joining the programme should complete the application form for admission as a postgraduate student attached to this brochure and send it to Richard Morgan, Head of Logistics at Informa Professional Academy. Alternatively, apply online at: www.informadl.com/eu. If you do so, hard copies of the required supporting documents will still need to be sent to complete your application. Once you have applied for the programme, your application and supporting documents will be sent to King's College London for review by the Programme Director. King's College London will then notify you directly with the outcome of your application. Once you have formally accepted your place you will be invoiced for your programme fee. Full payment is required before the start date of the programme (i.e. by Tuesday 30th September 2014) or within 28 days of receipt of your invoice, whichever is sooner. Payments should be made out to Informa UK Limited.

Please note, non-payment of your programme fees may result in materials, results and other related services provided by King's College London and Informa being withheld. King's College London also reserves the right to suspend debtors from study and the examination.

Admission to the programme requires the prior approval of the Programme Director at King's College London. The deadline for sending in completed applications is 5th September 2014. The organisers cannot guarantee that late applications will be processed, however, please contact Informa if you are worried that your application will arrive late or if you have any other queries about the application process on Tel: +44 (0)20 3377 3558.

All applications are subject to acceptance by King's College London and are subject to the full terms and conditions of the programme which are available at www.informadl.com/eu. King's College London and Informa reserve the right to reject any application from any potential student.

This programme will run subject to reaching a satisfactory intake to the programme.
